ONE DAY PCOS AWARENESS CAMP

On 14.11.2022, NSS Unit and Women Cell of Sant Hirdaram Girls College, Bhopal has organized a one-day awareness camp on the PCOS medical condition. The Program began with the session of Dr. Rachna Dubey, Consultant Obstetrician and Gynaecologist, Senior Medical Officer, In-charge Roshni and PCOS Clinic, JP Hospital, Bhopal, followed by regular check-up of students by medical team of JP Hospital. PCOS stands for polycystic ovary syndrome -a disorder which all women should be aware of, especially as soon as their teenage years begin. PCOS awareness is highly essential as this syndrome is the leading cause of female infertility. If left untreated or ignored, it can trigger other serious health complications in your body – such as obesity, type 2 diabetes, cardiovascular disease and endometrial cancer.

So, in order to keep reproductive and overall health in a good state, girls and women should educate themselves as well as each other on how to take care of their health. According to Dr. Rachna Dubey, PCOS is the most common endocrine condition. Recent research has found that one in five Indian adolescents' girls have PCOS.
